Thx for the update. When I see you tomorrow, I'll give you my minor suggestions re WTR's functional statement, as I had time to edit it on the flight. Hope you had a good Thanksgiving.

Subject: Rosemont: Forest Service posted FEIS on website

Carter checked the Forest Service's website this morning and found that they posted the Rosemont FEIS on Friday. We knew they had been targeting the end of November for website posting, but recent discussions had raised the possibility that that might not occur. Forest Service did not contact us in advance. The website says that the official objections period will not begin until the FEIS notice appears in the Federal Register, but it gives no indication of when that notice is expected to be published. Carter is in the process of reviewing the news articles linked below. The AZ Daily Star indicates that the project meets most environmental laws but has not yet demonstrated compliance with Clean Water Act. It also notes disagreement between EPA and the Forest Service regarding Clean Water Act issues, and the fact that the Corps and the County are still working on mitigation. The Green Valley News article indicates that the draft ROD is expected to be released on December 15, with the objections period to begin the following day. Forest Service website does not confirm this; Carter is contacting Forest Service to get confirmation/clarification.
